

Here Are Some Reasons Why We Merit Your Drug and Drug Sundries Business

Courteous store service.

Those who are not yet acquainted with the real pleasure of shopping here will be impressed with the uniformly good service at this store.

We fully appreciate that there is a vast difference between merely "baiting on" our customers and serving them courteously and intelligently.

So completely does this condition exist that our unusually efficient service is enjoyed by those who are "just looking," and the very few who bring something for exchange or to have a complaint satisfactorily adjusted.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Mrs. F. R. Goodman is entertaining her sister, Miss Mae McClanahan, of Holbrook.

Mrs. C. J. Babbitt and daughter Helen, left Monday for their winter home in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave O'Brien will move to the Harry Hibben house, near F. E. Brooks, within a few days.

Dr. Tom Manning is back here among his friends and neighbors, after several weeks in Phoenix, Los Angeles, and other western cities.

"Bony" Smith, of Williams, who is running his cattle at Ash Fork, was in town yesterday. Wonder why they call him "Bony"? He isn't; that is, not so very.

Dr. R. O. Raymond left Wednesday in his car for a few days in New Mexico. Bernardo Bedegain, the stockman, and Ralph Ellinger went as far as Springville with him, the latter driving the car.

A. G. Bader is again down town, and is feeling much better.

County Treasurer M. A. Murphy spent Monday and Tuesday in Phoenix.

Earl Mahan, of St. Johns, installed a W. U. clock in the postoffice here on Wednesday.

Wm. Babbitt is in Kansas on business and is not expected home before some time next month.

Mrs. Chas. Howard, of Phoenix, has been here for several days, visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Riordan.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tillman and guests, Mrs. C. W. Warren and son, of Galveston, spent Sunday and Sunday night at Mormon Lake.

C. J. Babbitt and daughter, Miss Helen, and son, Johnny, and niece, Miss Eunice, daughter of George Babbitt, all left on Monday for California, the young folks to resume their studies. Mr. Babbitt will probably be back here next week.

C. A. Patterson, a prominent business man of Kingman, was in Flagstaff last Friday attending the Masonic ceremonies.

Laurence H. Hamilton and Paul R. Fertig, of The Sun force, explored the elevations and depressions around Mt. Elden last Sunday.

E. E. Thurston and wife came up from the Verde country the first of the week on a visit to their many friends in Flagstaff.

Mrs. August Johnson left the latter part of last week to visit her daughters, Miss Edith at Gallup, and Miss Justine, who is now at Houck.

Wm. Roden returned Sunday from Witter Springs, Cal. He is looking fat and fine and says the water up there has greatly benefited him.

Take advantage of this glorious weather and have your house repainted. This is the best time of the year for it.—W. H. Morse, P. O. Box 1345.

G. W. Copeland, rancher of Black Bill Park, was in town this week, explaining his fervid and perfervid objections to both the old political parties.

Post-Office Inspector C. F. Dutton came in from the East the latter part of last week to go over the new city delivery plan with Postmaster Chas. Heisser.

Judge J. E. Jones, of the superior court, went to Williams Wednesday, then on to Kingman, where he will hold court for a day or so for Judge Bullinger.

H. D. Atkin, of Prescott, was among the prominent members of the Masonic fraternity present at the dedication of the Masonic Temple last Friday evening.

Tom Brown returned Friday from Kansas City, where he had been with 1,000 head of lambs. He topped the market the day he landed. Al Beasley went along with him to assist with the shipment.

Fred Wyatt, of the Lightning Delivery, announces that hereafter they are going to do things with more style, dash and aplomb, as it were, having bought a new Oldsmobile auto truck from J. J. Waldhaas.

Ersel Stevens, Walter Carlson, Raymond Prochnow, Roy Beard, Tommy Long and Frank and Joe Hanley took in the dance at Williams Saturday night, remaining over for the bottled baseball game next day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Brooks were both taken very sick on Friday night with acute indigestion and it was not until Monday that they regained their wonted interest in life and surroundings. Dr. Felix Manning attended them.

Conductor Walter Davidson, now of Los Angeles, but formerly director general of the short run between Flagstaff and Winslow, was in Flagstaff Friday visiting old friends and to be present at the Masonic dedicatory ceremonies.

Hank Radley, who has been laid up in the hospital here for the past month, is able to be out again, but is not able to carry an armful of logs around to any great extent yet. Hank has a good many friends around here who would rather see him well, anyhow.

C. W. Isham, of the Arizona Central Bank, has made arrangements to build a handsome modern cottage at the northeast corner of Elm and Kendrick streets, near his home, which when completed will be occupied by Mrs. Anna N. Noble and little daughter.

Joe Treat, the sawmill man of Lakeside, Navajo county, came in Friday to get acquainted with Mrs. Treat again, and ventured the remark that batching wasn't what it is cracked up to be. He also stayed over to attend the dedicatory ceremonies of the Masonic Temple that evening.

Jack Jaeger, chief engineer of the Prescott & Phoenix railroad, was in Flagstaff last Friday a short time. He came up to meet Mrs. Jaeger and son, who were on their way home to Prescott from Denver. Jack went out to see the city reservoir with Dr. Miller and, of course, missed his train and had to walk to Ash Fork on a freight.

The Coconino Farm Bureau will have a meeting on Saturday, October 4. H. W. Hochbaum, county agent leader for the Southwestern states, will deliver an important address. He comes from Washington, D. C., and will stop off for a couple of days on his way to the coast. Several other matters of importance will come up for action.

Dave Steele, of Dead Man's Flat, moseyed into town this week bearing gifts of the gods, comprising samples of 40-bushel-to-the-acre corn he is raising on land "unsuited for agricultural purposes," which had never been tilled before. He also has prize-winning watermelons and squash on this land. Beats all how unproductive this wild desert soil is.

James H. Buckley has been spending a week in Flagstaff, resting up after his last road trip for Babbitt, and visiting his sister, Mrs. Chas. P. Heisser, and her husband. On Saturday he entertained a former army friend, Michael Lynch, of Prescott, who recently returned from active service in France and stopped off between trains on his way to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T. Woolfolk returned Monday from their vacation on the coast. They have had a splendid time during all their stay, but got more and more anxious to get back the nearer their car got to Flagstaff. Mr. Woolfolk says that in all the 3,800 miles of road they passed over during the trip, there was none so good as the strip of new road between Williams and Maine.

Grand Master James H. Barrett, A. F. & A. M., of Douglas, and Past Grand Master E. S. Miller, of Flagstaff, motored to Grand Canyon Saturday, Dr. Miller "doing the honors." They spent the night at Martin Buggein's ranch, where they were most sumptuously feasted. They returned here Sunday. Mr. Barrett went to Winslow Monday, for an official visit Tuesday night. On Wednesday night he was in Holbrook, and last night at Jerome.

J. G. Tillman motored to Williams and back Wednesday.

C. B. Wilson went to Winslow on Wednesday, returning yesterday.

A marriage license was issued on Tuesday to Juan Tongillo, 21, and Rose Garcia, 18, both of Flagstaff.

Bud Anderson, former athletic director of the Flagstaff Athletic Club, is now cooking at the Commercial Hotel.

Miss Jennie Whipple, who teaches in the Mexican school, is entertaining Miss Fillerup and Miss Freeman, of Snowflake.

Mrs. Betty Williams, who has been working in the Confection Den, is now a member of the staff at the Western Union office.

Joe Lee, the Navajo reservation Indian trader, came to town this week with nearly 300 Indian cattle, to be shipped to California.

Jeff Adams, an old-timer of this section of the country, arrived in Flagstaff on Wednesday morning from San Diego for a visit with old friends he has known since the early days.

There was a meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock to hear County Engineer Wright's report on the sewer grade.

Miss Blanche Riordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Riordan, is entertaining Miss Helen O'Malley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed O'Malley, of Tucson.

P. J. Lindemann, one of the old-time, faithful employees of the Flagstaff Lumber Co., has dropped his work for a few days' vacation in California.

F. M. Gold and family, with R. Thompson and family, motored out on the Tuba City road Sunday, eating a couple of meals picnic fashion out beyond Copper Camp.

When the weather gets cold it will not be nearly as convenient for you to have your papering and interior decorating done as it is right now.—W. H. Morse, P. O. Box 1345.

Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Koch, who has been spending his vacation with them, went back to Phoenix the first of the week, where he conducts a lumber brokerage office.

A. A. Foster, Ed Posten, C. W. Sullivan and Chas. J. Spear all went to Prescott Saturday, where they took the encampment degree in the I. O. O. F., returning Sunday by way of Sedona and Clarkdale.

G. C. Becker, partner with R. G. Stevenson in the Western Mercantile Co., returned Sunday from his Eastern buying trip, and says the kiddies in this town are sure going to have some toys this winter.

Gilbert Sykes, who had been here visiting his cousin, Harold S. Sykes, since his return from military service in England, left Monday for Tucson, where he will enter the university and take an academic course.

Jim Tragle, the healthy cow valuer of Prescott, was stirring up cowmen in this section of the country. He had not scheduled any shipments at last reports, but he expects to gather up his share of cattle this fall.

Capt. Jesse LeBaron, formerly a resident of Flagstaff, later of Uncle Sam's army and now on the road traveling for a wholesale firm, was in Flagstaff last Wednesday. He was glad to see old friends here again.

Miss Eleanor Greenlaw left yesterday for Pasadena to attend school again this coming year. Miss Eleanor says she can not understand why any one ever wants to leave Flagstaff, and her vacation at home was all too short.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Grim, who arrived here last week to make this city their home, are living in City Clerk Alex Johnston's cottage, in the northeastern section of town. Mr. Grim is transportation inspector of the Santa Fe's coast line.

John Kerley came in from the reservation the other day with a big bunch of sheep, for the Kansas City market. He spent most of his time between visits with his relatives and many friends here, in taking copious draughts of our top-o-peaks water.

Miss Katherine Isham, of Cincinnati, arrived in Flagstaff last week and is the guest of her brother, C. W. Isham of the Arizona Central Bank. Miss Isham has many friends here, made during her year's residence here some years ago. She expects to remain a couple of months.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Marsh, former residents of Flagstaff, are both reported ill in Albuquerque with typhoid fever. Mrs. Marsh is reported as being in a precarious condition with very little hope for her recovery. Mr. Marsh was forest supervisor of the Coconino national forest until transferred to Albuquerque.

Judge and Mrs. F. W. Perkins, Mayor and Mrs. Earl Slipher, Forest Supervisor and Mrs. E. G. Miller and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lampland, and Miss Williams, the three last-named being residents of Observatory Hill, motored to Fort Valley Sunday, spending several enjoyable hours at the experimental station.

Jim Robertson was in from the Flagstaff Lumber camp on Wednesday. Jim says he's just learning how thoughtful of him some of the home people were when he was on the other side during the late scrap. He did not get a letter from home during all that time, and now he is getting them in bunches, and enjoys reading them, though they are many months old. Incidentally, Jim is getting some even more interesting mail, regularly, from England, which he blushing refuses to say much about.

The Misses Gracia Saunders, Marian Denim, Alice Allen and Mary Rozen, Mrs. John Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lennon, and L. C. Riley, L. E. Gray, U. J. Lewis, Harry Truswell and Bud Friday, made up a party Saturday to Lolomai Lodge, part of them going on horseback and the rest in cars. They returned Sunday, having made the trip both ways with no casualties although there was a little excitement when Lewis' mount got scared at the flamboyant color of the rider's handkerchief and dumped him off into the sand.

Manager J. J. Costigan is elated over having secured the "Shepherd of the Hills" for the night of October 14, and Zane Grey's "Desert Gold," for some time next month.

It doesn't make a particle of difference how large, how small, or of what colors you want your sign painted, I am the man to make it.—W. H. Morse, P. O. Box 1345.

Miss Irene Bart, county recorder; her sister, Miss Florence Bart, and their mother, Mrs. Mary E. Bart, motored to Grand Canyon Saturday, where they will remain for a week as the guests of Mrs. Wm. F. Griffin.

Judge Sidney Sapp, of Holbrook, an officer of the grand lodge of A. F. & A. M., and Mrs. Sapp, both of whom attended the Masonic dedication here last Friday night, during their stay were guests of Judge and Mrs. F. W. Perkins. They returned home Sunday.

Wesley Marlar left Saturday for Los Angeles, where he will enter a dental college. Since his return from the army he had been clerking in the drug store of his brother, Will Marlar. The younger set, with whom Wesley was very popular, will miss him.

Mr. and Mrs. John Zalaha are now planning a trip to California within a week or two, taking the little ones along, and remaining from two to four weeks. Mr. Zalaha has not had a vacation for a couple of years and now looks forward with some apprehension to a sudden change to the state in which he will have nothing to do.

Harold Huzzey arrived Saturday for a visit to Harold S. Sykes, after which he will resume his old position on Observatory Hill, trying to keep the telescope in good humor. Harry has been in the British infantry. He saw a lot of active service, including several months on the Italian front, where he was sent along with the other reinforcements after the Austrians had nearly put Italy out of business.

Miss Anna Riordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Riordan, left for Chicago on Wednesday, accompanied by her guest, Miss Hogan, whose home is in that city. Miss Riordan will go to Lake Forest, Ill., in a few days, to resume her studies. Another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riordan, Mrs. Robert Chambers, who with her husband has been here for several weeks, will leave Monday for their home in Tulsa, Okla.

The Men's League of the Federated Church has been divided into groups, each of which will attempt to stimulate interest and attendance at the Sunday night services, at each of which one of the groups will take charge for a half hour or so. This movement is in line with similar methods being adopted by the Methodist and Presbyterian churches all over the country and is connected with the New Era and Centenary movements.

Mrs. W. H. Power announces in this issue the receipt of a new line of millinery, which will be on display today and tomorrow.

Miss Prochaska, of Nebraska, who has spent the summer months with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kester, will leave soon for her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Livermore, who have been spending the last month here, will return within the next few days to their ranch home near Phoenix.

H. L. Hutchinson, of Black Bill Park, shipped a carload of spuds to Phoenix this week, and Babbitt Bros. are loading a car for Phoenix and another for Kingman.

Jack Kester, the mill man, and Francis Chisholm, county farm agent, went to Williams Wednesday to look over wheat prospects. There will be an exceptionally good yield, they report.

Capt. E. M. Robison, of the Western Union, says he has several positions for ex-service men offered by employers who are very anxious to get various kinds of help, but that he can find no men to fill the positions.

The music section of the Flagstaff Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. Taylor on Saturday afternoon. Members wishing to attend should meet at the home of Mrs. W. H. Porter, 110 Aspen, not later than 2:45 p. m.

Wm. Wilson came in Monday evening from Cooley, where he is chief blacksmith for the mill company. He brought over Dolph Treat's young auto to remodel in order not to miss any dances when he gets back on the job again.

Fire was discovered Wednesday morning, about 4:30, near the Arizona Lumber & Timber Co.'s machine shop in Milton. It was caused by spontaneous combustion in some oily waste. The fire department was called, but the blaze was out when they got over there. No damage.

Teddy Thurston, the Verde cowman who is in town this week from his ranch, says that his brother, D. C. Thurston, is still in France, where he has been since a year ago last August; he is now herding Hun prisoners and does not know when he will get home again. Dave has many good friends here among the cowpunching fraternity who will be glad to see him home again.

Capt. Herne, the man who is conducting the lot sale here, spent last week-end in Fort Wingate, N. M., and will spend this one in Holbrook. He says that the government is storing all its T. N. T. at Fort Wingate, which is the only military post where there is room for it. There are 39,500,000 pounds of it, stored in 158 different magazines, each magazine being at least 800 feet away from any other magazine, the expansive-energy range in an explosion being 750 feet. The stuff will likely be used by the government in road and other construction blasting.
